Why Sengo?

The Potawatomi Indians called the area Channahon, which means “Meeting of the Waters”. To recognize the local Potawatomi heritage, the Adventure Garden was named Sengo, which is the Potawatomi word for Red Squirrel.

On the day the playground area opened for play we noticed this little guy (or gal we couldn't get close enough to determine) checking out the new play area.

Sengo Adventure Garden is a Joint Adventure Between the Channahon Township & Channahon Park District
